

BIG GUNS CRUSH NAZIS IN NORMANDY

REDS WITHIN
50 MILES OF
EAST PRUSSIANEW FRONT OPENED TO KNOCK OUT
GERMANS

BY RUSSELL LANDSTROM

London, Thursday, July 13. (AP)—Russian troops have broken through German defenses between Polotsk and Pskov on a new front 93 miles wide and captured more than 1,000 places in a two-day advance of at least 22 miles. Premier Stalin announced last night, intensifying the threat of disaster for all Nazi forces in the Baltics.

More than 7,000 Germans were killed and some 1,500 taken prisoner in a single day's fighting on the new front, the early morning supplement to the Soviet communiqué said. As Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's Second Baltic army began battering the enemy loose from one of the last Nazi footholds on pre-war Soviet soil.

Withdrawal Expected
Other Soviet armies to the south pounded nearer East Prussia—reaching within 40 miles, some London morning papers quoted a German broadcast as saying—and it was considered possible that the Reds might be fighting on the Reich's own territory by the end of the week.

The German position on the whole 500-mile front became so patently hopeless that the Berlin radio began preparing the people for a large-scale withdrawal.

"It is obvious," said a Berlin military spokesman in a broadcast, "that the front cannot remain as it is. There are two alternatives. One is a large-scale counter-offensive and the other the adaptation of the entire front to new lines. Since we are on the defensive in the east, the second alternative is the one to be applied."

The vanguard of this mighty offensive was reported already within 50 miles of East Prussia and the German communiqué today placed "the advancing Soviets" west of Alytus in Lithuania, 23 miles south of Kaunas and within 27 miles of the strategically vital railway linking East Prussia and Riga, capital of Latvia.

Wilno Garrison Hopeless
Hand-to-hand fighting in the streets of Wilno continued for the fifth day as the Russians sought to annihilate the Germans trapped there. Berlin said the Nazi garrison in Wilno was being supplied from the air.

Fighting in with the Russian plan for the quickest possible victory in the drive for East Prussia and the Baltics, Yeremenko's fresh assault foreshadowed ever-widening operations that soon may bring into action all of the Soviet forces northward to Pskov and thence to Narva, aimed at wiping out all remaining German occupation of pre-war Soviet territory.

The southern flank of Yeremenko's forces linked with the right wing of Gen. Ivan B. Bagration's first Baltic army northeast of Polotsk and extended the active battle front on the east to approximately 500 miles.

Campaign Extended

In less than three weeks of the major Soviet summer offensive Red troops already had smashed the Germans back beyond the pre-war Russian frontier all the way from the Pripyat Marshes to the vicinity of the Latvian border, and the new assault extended this campaign into the stretch of land to which the Nazis have clung north and south of Pskov.

The disclosure that Yeremenko was in command of the second Baltic army uncovered another

Allies Push Nearer
Livorno and Ancona,
Key Italian Ports

BY NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, July 12 (AP)—Allied troops were fighting tonight within eight miles of Livorno, big Italian west coast port, and from the same distance were hurling shells into the shipping center of Ancona on the Adriatic Sea, at the opposite end of the 150-mile battle line.

American light armored units blasted forward two miles against strong German resistance and captured the enemy stronghold of Castiglione, eight air-line miles down the coast from Livorno. While Polish troops who distinguished themselves in the bloody Cassino fighting closed in to artillery range of Ancona's defenses.

Assault of the two ports is a key move in the Allied plan to smash the Nazis' "Gothic line" defense, supposedly the last strong natural barrier left to the enemy south of the Po river line near the top of the Italian boot.

A dispatch from Zurich, Switzerland, Wednesday quoted a diplomatic source as saying that "everything indicates" that the Germans "envisage an early and total retreat from Italy."

American troops driving up the Era river valley, about 21 miles inland from the west coast, in an attempted flanking thrust against Livorno were reported meeting furious opposition above the enemy-held town of Lajatico, which had been bypassed. German counterattacks were described as both frequent and fierce and there was no indication the Yanks had made any real progress in the past 24 hours.

HEMANS BRIBE REPORT INTACT

State's Star Witness Cross-Examined For Three Days

Mason, Mich., July 12 (AP)—Defense attorneys in the legislative graft trial today completed nearly 20 hours of searching cross-examination of Maj. Charles F. Hemans without apparently breaking any substantial holes in his account of paying bribes to lawmakers.

Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler planned to return Hemans to the witness stand tomorrow for a brief re-direct examination to stop up whatever cracks the battery of defense attorneys may have left after chopping at the state's star witness for the better part of three days.

Sigler indicated he would wind up the prosecution's case by the end of this week. He said he would place on the witness stand tomorrow former State Senator Joseph C. Roosevelt who has been described as Hemans' "errand boy" in paying some bribes.

Sigler himself gave the only fillip to a day of monotonous cross-examination of Hemans. Indicating something more of what the Ingham county grand jury has in mind for future indictments, Sigler declared in the course of an argument that he objected to questioning Hemans about matters which might concern the already issued intangible tax conspiracy warrant or the "anti-chain banking conspiracy."

The Americans, attacking by instruments through heavy clouds which obscured observation of the results, met no German fighter opposition but ran through intense anti-aircraft fire over the target area and 26 bombers failed to return. No planes were lost from a strong force of escorting fighters.

Also, for the second straight day, American heavies based in Italy hit southern France. Up to 500 bombers escorted by Lightning and Mustangs bombed rail targets with good results.

A Swiss radioed communiqué said that Swiss fighter squadrons had forced nine American bombers to land from a force of from 15 to 26 which penetrated over Swiss territory. The crews were interned, the Swiss announcement said. Another plane was said to have crashed with a crew of three bailing out.

TAKING SAIPAN
COSTS 15,000
U. S. SOLDIERSABOUT 95 PERCENT
OF JAP DEFENSE
FORCE KILLED

BY EUGENE BURNS

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, July 12 (AP)—Conquest of strategic Saipan Island in the western Pacific cost 15,053 American casualties—2,359 killed, 11,481 wounded and 1,213 missing—Navy Secretary Forrestal announced today in Washington.

This total, the highest of any single ground action in the Pacific, was far exceeded by the losses inflicted on the Japanese garrison, 11,948 of whom already had been buried.

Forrestal said "probably 95 percent" of the defending force, estimated at more than 20,000 died in the futile defense of Saipan. That island is within bombing range of Tokyo and already is being used by American fighter planes.

Forrestal's report followed quickly an announcement by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz that Japanese prisoners of war on Saipan already exceeded 1,000. That also was a record for any single campaign in the Pacific.

Guam Hit Again
New carrier task force strikes Monday at Guam and Rota, in the Marianas south of Saipan, were reported by Nimitz. These attacks rounded out nearly a week of sustained action, suggestive of preliminary softening up, against those islands.

Although organized resistance on Saipan had ended last Saturday, there was bitter fighting when isolated enemy groups were located. Nimitz reported one Marine regiment alone killed 731 Japanese troops Monday in mop-up activities.

Japanese civilians, who had been caught at the northern tip of the island with the remnants of the garrison, continued to stream back. More than 9,000 already had been interned, Nimitz said.

The latest carrier plane strike at Guam, the sixth in as many days, concentrated on military objectives at the towns of Agaña, Umatac and Agaña on the western shore. Buildings near Orote Point, at about the center of the western coastline, also were hit.

The Seventh army air force continued its neutralizing raids in the

MICHIGAN'S CIO
FOR ROOSEVELT

Fourth Term Draft Is Demanded At Meeting In Grand Rapids

Grand Rapids, July 12 (AP)—The Michigan CIO council aligned itself with the current administration today when 1,600 delegates promptly approved a resolution demanding the draft of President Roosevelt for a fourth term, with Wallace as a running mate.

At the same session the group returned to the resolutions committee a lengthy motion concerning the reconversion period. Chief opposition was offered by Glen Sigman, Detroit, who objected to a provision which would turn over plants built by government funds to private industry. Other points in the resolution covered insurance of job seniority for negroes, women, and servicemen; extension of price control through reconversion, and provision for a properly timed return to a shorter work week.

Talk of rescinding the no strike pledge died down suddenly today following a speech by August Scholle, the CIO's chief of political action in the state.

Scholle put a damper on an unofficial move to throw out the pledge when he urged work in politics. He warned that it is the next congress that can retain the Little Steel Formula, the OPA etc., and added, "if we lose in November we will have opportunity to strike."

Fighting Danes On Winning Side

Washington, July 12 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull declared today that the Danish people by their resistance to the Nazis had "placed themselves side by side with the people of the United Nations" in the struggle for liberty.

Lawmakers Facing
Graft Charges Are Election Winners

Detroit, July 12 (AP)—Four of six state legislators facing graft charges in the Ingham county grand jury investigation were renominated in "vindication campaigns" in yesterday's primary election, complete unofficial returns disclosed today.

Former Senator Ernest G. Nagel, who also is on trial on graft charges, was defeated in an attempt to regain his seat in the upper chamber.

Meanwhile, former Rep. William C. Stenson, whose stories of finding money in his coat pockets in a legislative cloakroom paved the way for creation of the grand jury, was defeated in the Republican primary at Houghton county.

Stenson resigned his seat when he moved from Greenland in Houghton county to Houghton.

Rep. George N. Higgins of Ferndale, who told of having been offered bribes for his vote, received the Republican senatorial nomination in the 12th district, where the veteran George P. McCallum of Ann Arbor is stepping down. Higgins has no Democratic opponent in the November general election.

There were few important upsets in the legislative elections where 27 seats in the house and nine in the senate went to the Republicans by default. Rep. John P. Espie, Eagle Republican, was elected to his 11th term. Another unopposed winner was Rep. Maurice E. Post of Rockford, Republican floor leader.

A father-son combination gained success at Detroit where Rep. Michael J. O'Brien was renominated and his father, Thomas C. O'Brien, also qualified for the November election. They are Democrats.

Receiver Appointed For Ringling Circus After Fire Disaster

Hartford, Conn., July 12 (AP)—The Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey circus was put in the hands of receiver today by order of Judge John H. King of the superior court.

In his chambers at Williamstown, Judge King named former town judge Edward S. Rogin of Newington as receiver on application of Attorney Julius B. Schatz, counsel for a number of persons who have brought suit against the circus as a result of injuries in the fire which last Thursday swept the main tent and resulted in a death toll of 163.

Under a Connecticut statute, the receiver, after posting bond, will take immediate possession of the circus and have an inventory made.

He said the receivership was for the preservation of the circus assets and to protect the circus as well as the claimants.

PIG CROP DROPS

Lansing, July 12 (AP)—Michigan's pig production is declining sharply after a record high last year, the federal-state crop reporting service said today. The forecast of the 1944 crop is 1,459,000 head, a decrease of 31 per cent from the 1943 crop of 2,149,000.

IN NORMANDY, (by wireless)

—During the Cherbourg Peninsula campaign I spent nine days with the Ninth Infantry Division—the division that cut the peninsula, and one of the three that overwhelmed the great port of Cherbourg.

The Cherbourg campaign is old stuff by now, and you are no longer particularly interested in it. But the Ninth Division has been in this war for a long time and will be in it for a long time to come. So I would like to tell you some things about it.

The Ninth is one of our best divisions. It landed in Africa and fought through Tunisia and Sicily. Then it went to England last fall, and trained all winter for the invasion of France. It was one of the American divisions in the invasion that had previous battle experience.

Now an odd thing had happened to the Ninth while we were in the Mediterranean. For some reason which we have never fathomed the Ninth wasn't released through censorship as early as it should have been, while other divisions were.

As a result, the Ninth got a complex that it was being slighted. They fought hard, took heavy casualties, and did a fine job generally, but nobody back home knew anything about it.

This lack of recognition affected morale. Every commanding general is aware that publicity for his unit is a factor in morale. Not publicity in the manufactured sense, but a public report to the folks back home on what an outfit endures and what it accomplishes.

BIG MAJORITY
IN PRIMARIESFry WILL OPPOSE
GOVERNOR KELLY
IN NOVEMBER

BY G. MILTON KELLY

Detroit, July 12 (AP)—Belated returns from Tuesday's primary election served tonight only to emphasize more sharply the victories of Edward J. Fry, former state racing commissioner, for the Democratic nomination for governor, and of Auditor General Vernon J. Brown for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

Brown, endorsed by Governor Kelly, defeated the anti-administration incumbent, Dr. Eugene C. Keyes, in the Republican primary by a margin of more than 40,000 votes, with fewer than a tenth of the state's voting districts still missing.

Fry, in a narrower race, bested William J. Cody, Wayne county circuit court commissioner, for the nomination by a margin which hung around the 8,000 mark with more than seven-eighths of the election precincts reporting, while the third Democratic gubernatorial aspirant, Ernest C. Brooks of Holland, trailed far behind.

Congressmen All Renominated
Thus the November general election will match Fry against Kelly, who had no opponent in the primary for governor, and Brown will face off with James H. Lee, assistant corporation counsel of Detroit, who had no rival for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

These were the only state-wide contests.

Every one of Michigan's 17 members of the national house of representatives was renominated in the primary, but each will have an opponent in the general election in November.

In state legislative contests, a great majority of incumbents of the state house and senate who seek reelection were renominated. Among the winners were four from Wayne county who are under arrest on charges of a grand jury that, as members of the legislature, they violated their public trust by accepting or soliciting bribes. They had run on "vindication" platforms.

From Grand Rapids came reports that a so-called "home front" group of Republicans, fighting the control of Frank D. McKay, Grand Rapids politician, had elected a majority of the delegates to that county's Republican convention, which, in turn, will elect delegates to the G. O. P. state convention which will nominate the balance of the November election ticket. The home fronters asserted they had elected a "safe" majority of anti-McKay

Gasoline Quality Will Be Cut Again For Civilian Trade

New York, July 12 (AP)—A cut in the quality of gasoline available for passenger automobiles has been "virtually decided" by the petroleum administration for war, the Herald-Tribune says. It has learned from "sources close to the oil industry."

The cut, necessitated by increased military demands for 100-octane aviation gasoline, may be expected within 10 days, the paper says.

Reich Feels Pinch Of Air Attacks On Oil Installations

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, July 12. (AP)—A senior U. S. officer said tonight that the American offensive had decreased the strength of the German air force in France and had succeeded in curtailing German oil production to the point of having an important effect on the mobility of the German ground forces.

The Allied objective of getting at the German ground forces through their oil supply has been "achieved" in recent attacks on 64 oil installations, the officer said, while the German air force, a second great target for the Allied airmen, has lost more planes than the Germans could produce every month since January.

Famous Landmarks Hit; King And Queen See Robot Shot Down

London, Thursday, July 13 (AP)—Coming from varying directions, Hitler's "comet" bombs continued to blast bits of London and southern England by daylight yesterday after the capital had enjoyed its second-straight raid-free night.

Death came by ones and twos as houses and shops were demolished by the spray of explosives, but more serious recent incidents were disclosed with the official announcement that bombs had hit such famous London landmarks as the Royal Free Hospital in Gray's Inn Road, Warner Brothers movie studios at Teddington, and Australia House and Aldwych House, at the eastern end of the Strand.

New York, July 12 (AP)—The king and queen of England saw a robot bomb shot down today a short distance from where they were standing to visit an a-c-k-ack emplacement, the BBC stated in a broadcast recorded tonight by NBC.

Their majesties were visiting the anti-aircraft battery when a robot bomb sputtered overhead. The a-c-k-ack blazed away and the bomb continued on its course until a fighter plane dashing out of a cloud bank detonated the missile with a burst of its gun.

Wayne Vote Surprise
Probably not until the Wayne county Republican delegates are assembled in their convention and show their loyalties by the way they vote will it be clear whether McKay or anti-McKay forces won there.

Analysis of the primary election vote showed many unexpected things. Most surprising of these was the Wayne county strength of Brown, weekly newspaper publisher in rural Mason, and Fry, whose home is in Fremont.

Brown was far ahead of Keyes, whose home is in Dearborn, not only outstate but in Wayne as well. Fry ran up a big outstate majority and, although he trailed Cody in Wayne county, Cody's strength in Wayne was insufficient to permit him to catch up, and he conceded that Fry had won.

There was another surprise in the Wayne returns, this one in a local contest when Gerald K. O'Brien, Detroit attorney, defeated County Prosecutor William E. Dowling for the Democratic nomination for prosecutor.

BY ROBERT EUNSON
Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, Thursday, July 13 (AP)—Forty-five thousand bypassed Japanese have launched a desperate attempt to break out of a British New Guinea pocket in which they have been entrapped since last April, headquarters announced today.

The Japanese, remnants of the Weiwak-trapped Eighteenth army commanded by General Hatazo Adachi, opened their skirmishes against American veterans of the Buna and Saldor campaigns Monday night along the Driniumor river 21 miles east of American-occupied Aitape.

The first attacks were repulsed, but the enemy assaults were resumed Tuesday morning. American dug in deeply to meet the attackers, described as a "heavy" force.

A spokesman for Gen. Douglas MacArthur estimated the trapped Japanese at 45,000, but said possibly only half of them were combat troops. "Non-combat forces also undoubtedly have been pressed into service," he added.

Asked why the Japanese were launching the attack, the spokesman said, "They lose if they sit, because they'll starve to death."

The spokesman said the Japanese either were trying to break through to the Dutch New Guinea northwest coast near Monokwari, or to some point between the American beachheads at Hollandia and Aitape, which are 196 miles apart.

Milk Wagon Strike Ended In Detroit

Detroit, July 12 (AP)—Russell L. Ballard, president of Local 83, United Dairy Workers (CIO), said 1,100 striking milk wagon drivers and helpers voted tonight to return to their jobs.

FIRST CAMPAIGN SALVO IS FIRED

Republican Chairman Raps Roosevelt's "Perpetuation"

BY WILLIAM W. TYLER
Albany, N. Y., July 12 (AP)—Republicans fired their first campaign salvo at President Roosevelt today, more than a week in advance of his expected nomination for a fourth term, with an assertion he was using his title of commander-in-chief to "perpetuate himself" in office.

National Republican Chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr., put that interpretation upon the president's statement that, if renominated by the national Democratic convention at Chicago next week, he would accept as a "good soldier."

Brownell, who met reporters after conferences with Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, was asked whether he had any comment on the president's announcement.

Reading from a prepared statement, previously seen by Dewey, Brownell said:

"Mr. Roosevelt is the first of 32 presidents of the United States to claim that the title of commander-in-chief makes him a soldier and to use that title as a preface to perpetuate himself in political office."

"On Nov. 4, 1940, Mr. Roosevelt made this statement: 'You will have a new president in 1944.'" Brownell continued, adding:

"When he said that, he was right."

ENEMY FLANK CRUMBLES IN ST. LO SECTOR

Front Correspondent Don Whitehead told of seeing one German paratrooper killed by a shell burst, whose position indicated he had been about to throw a grenade.

British-Canadian troops at the eastern end of the Normandy front held firm despite repeated German counterattacks on their positions northeast of Caen and southwest of that fallen bastion, Crucifix hill, a commanding height five miles southwest of Caen, still was in British hands after the Tommies had wiped out an entire German tank grenadier regiment which tried to seize it. Colombelles, east of the Orne river and four miles northeast of Caen, apparently was lost temporarily by the British who captured it Tuesday.

Use of City Funds to Provide Factory Space For Industry Approved

A capacity audience which jammed the city hall council chambers for the Citizens Forum meeting last evening heard Escanaba's industrial program discussed at length and then unanimously went on record as favoring the use of city funds to provide factory space for future industries.

Charles Pollo presided as chairman and George Lindenthal served as moderator.

Harry D. Brackett, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, outlined some of the major accomplishments of the chamber since its inception and told of the part it has played in the present industrial program. He said the men who had directed the successful efforts of the Chamber of Commerce in the main are the men who planned and who are active in the drive to bring new industries to Escanaba.

Secretary Brackett said that thus far about $125,000 had been spent in the industrial program: in remodeling and acquiring the tannery building now used by the Lambert Novelty company and employing 60 persons; acquiring and remodeling the Pontiac garage for the Venus Garment company which employs 40 women and girls; and in remodeling the Chicago and Northwestern blacksmith shop which will house the Solar Mig. Co., which will employ about 40 persons in the manufacture of a number of furniture items.

He also pointed out that the Lambert company has plans for adding a mirror department to their present setup and this would add another 40 employees to the payroll. All of the buildings are still owned by the city and Chamber of Commerce.

It was revealed that we also will have shortly a small plant for the manufacture of a part for electric motors.

He pointed out the city needs more payrolls for sooner or later we will have to provide employment for persons returning from defense plants in the city and some 3600 service men who are now away. He said he believed industry, not the government, should care for the situation.

He said if we do not have enough industries we should get more and should do it now for they will not be available after the war.

Heard during the evening were Hubert Shepek of the Shepek Dimension Co., Wells; Juel Lee of the Birdseye Veneer Co.; Milton Lowe, manager of the Lambert Novelty Co.; Henry Althen, formerly of the Escanaba Veneer Co.; George Ruwitch of the personnel department of the Venus Foundation Garment Co.; Healy Holmes of the Chicago, Northwestern RR.; William Smith of the Delta Hardware; Emil Newman of the Trades and Labor council; several employees and former employees of the Venus company; John P. Norton of the Escanaba Daily Press; City Manager George Bean; Ollie Thatcher and Roy Baldwin, commander of Cloverleaf Post American Legion.

Mr. Shepek said that his firm at Wells was going along successfully despite three setbacks: one fatality and two injury cases, and lauded his employees as the best in the peninsula. He said that as for the future there is one large, stable, financially independent furniture firm that desires to locate in Wells.

He said the old Woodenware building was an eyesore to all and suggested removal of a portion of it and remodeling of the remainder to house industries. This he said in his opinion should be the first objective of the Chamber of Commerce.

Juel Lee of the Birdseye Veneer said that he has no postwar plans but would undoubtedly go in for treated woods. Employment at present is 280 and he expressed doubt that it would remain that high at the close of the war. He said, however, that if when the war is over business booms they will not hesitate to put in additional equipment if necessary.

Milton Lowe described operations of the Lambert Novelty company which is manufacturing picture frames. He said the company believes that picture frames are something which people will use forever and because of this the company looks forward to the future with confidence. He displayed samples of the product produced by his firm.

Henry Althen, former employee of the Escanaba Veneer company, said he could not understand how assistance was given to outside industries but not to ones already established. He said aid had been forthcoming he believed the Escanaba Veneer today would still be a going and thriving business.

He also raised the question of wages being paid by the Venus Garment company, intimating that the scale was low. This was answered by George Ruwitch and several girls now employed by the company which revealed that the three girls queried were earning from $24 to $28 weekly. A starting scale of 40c per hour is given trainees.

John P. Norton said he thought the topic for discussion for the evening was whether Escanaba was to continue the efforts to attract industry. He said that some of the matters brought before the forum were really problems of each industry which must be worked out by the individual industry. What the industrial committee is interested in is counteracting an unemployment situation that forced high school students to leave Escanaba upon graduation and which will face veterans on their return unless the industrial program is continued.

City Manager Bean said people should get the overall picture of what is being worked for and forget peacetime problems which should be met day by day as they arise. He cautioned against moving too rapidly, however.

Mr. Norton said he differed with Mr. Bean in the matter of moving slowly. He declared he believed we should attract all the industries possible at the present time as later they will not be available and he suggested it might be possible for the city to construct a building suitable to house a number of future industries.

Charles Gessner gave an excellent summation of the evening's discussion.

Mr. Bean said he would like an expression from the audience relative to use of city funds, if available, in providing factory space for future industries.

Mr. Norton then made a motion on the question which was unanimously approved.

Girl Rescued From Bay By Chum, Youth

Little Jean Mileski, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mileski, narrowly escaped drowning last Saturday afternoon at the local beach when she stepped into a deep hole. She was saved through the efforts of a companion, Gloria Lee, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juel Lee, and an unidentified boy, who was nearby.

Gloria attempted to rescue the girl alone after hearing her calls for help but Jean, in her fright, kept pulling her rescuer under. Gloria then attracted the attention of a youth who carried Jean to shallow water while Gloria swam to shore for additional aid.

Veteran Barber Is Claimed By Death

Frank Fisher, 426 S. Twelfth street, veteran Escanaba barber, passed away yesterday noon following a prolonged illness.

Fisher, who was commonly called "Pop" by a host of acquaintances, conducted a barber shop in the 1300 block on Ludington street for the past ten years. Previous to coming to Delta county he lived at Aberdeen, S. D.

Surviving is the widow, the former Anne Wickert.

The body was removed to the Alto funeral home where it will rest in state beginning at 4 p. m. today.

Funeral services will be conducted at the funeral home at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, the Rev. James Ward, of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, officiating. Burial will be in the family plot in Lakeview cemetery.

Goulette Defeats Rep. Walter Bagley

Menominee—James Goulette of Iron Mountain won the Republican nomination for representative in the state legislature from the Menominee-Dickinson district in Tuesday's primary.

They were accompanied by Mrs. Max Schmitt, a member of the Milwaukee Conservation Alliance, who has been long interested in conservation activities.

GIRRBACH WINS FOR SENATOR

Sault Man Leads Harry Buchman By About 200 Votes

George Girrbach of Sault Ste. Marie won the Republican nomination for state senator in Tuesday's primary election by about two hundred votes over Harry Buchman of Rapid River on the basis of almost complete returns tabulated yesterday. James Spies of Menominee ran in third place.

The incomplete returns gave: Girrbach, 3058; Buchman, 2867; and Spies, 254.

It is probable that Girrbach will increase his margin over his rivals when returns from five precincts in Chippewa county and four in Mackinac county are included in the totals. Returns from other counties in the district were complete.

The vote by counties follows:

STORM DELAYS CHERRY PICKERS

Boat Trip to Door County Held Over One Day By High Winds

The scheduled departure by boat of about 100 cherry pickers from the Escanaba area for Door County was delayed for one day because of high northerly winds which would have prevented a landing at Gill's Rock on the tip of the Door County peninsula, E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent, was informed yesterday.

He was informed that the Washington Island ferry boat, either the "North Shore" or the "Welcome" will leave Escanaba at 10 a. m. today if weather conditions are right.

The boat was scheduled to leave at 10 a. m. yesterday. Seas were rolling so high at the Gill's Rock landing, however, that on its run from Washington Island to the mainland Tuesday evening it was impossible for the boat to dock there. The wind did not abate yesterday and the Wednesday trip with the cherry pickers had to be called off. From Gill's Rock the cherry pickers will be taken to the Surgeon Bay cherry country by truck and bus.

The 100 pickers scheduled to leave today will include persons from Delta, Marinette, Menominee, Marquette and adjacent counties. Most of the pickers who have signed up for work in the orchards are young people.

County agricultural agents have recruited pickers from Wisconsin and Upper Peninsula counties, and the Door County agent has arranged for camps to be established in the heart of the cherry country.

Pickers are guaranteed wages of 12½ cents a can (four quarts), as compared with 10 cents last year, and 5 cents in 1941.

It was reported from Door County that early varieties of cherries are ripening rapidly and most are ready for picking now. It is estimated it will take about four weeks to get in the crop.

Fishermen Getting Along Better Now

Commercial fishermen in Michigan waters of the Great Lakes are weathering the rough seas of wartime labor shortages, scarcity and increased cost of equipment.

Resident commercial fishing licenses issued by the conservation department for the year beginning July 1 are approaching the 1,000-mark, a figure that is average for the first weeks of the new license year.

License fees are based on overall length and registered gross tonnage of fishing boats.

Arnold Built Puny Air Arm Into Powerful AAF

BY S. BURTON HEATH

NEA Staff Correspondent
Washington—Gen. Henry Harley Arnold has built this nation's puny little air force into the most powerful raiding and fighting organization in the world. The vigor and efficiency of his AAF administration have served to begot the fact that General Arnold is our Number One Army flier still using the controls.

In April, 1911, 2nd Lt. "Hap" Arnold was one of the first five men sent by the Army to the Wright Brothers' field at Dayton, where Orville Wright taught him to fly one of the kites that passed as an airplane in those days.

The course took two months. Arnold received his wings after 140 minutes of soloing, and received U. S. Pilot's License No. 29. From that day to this, he has flown regularly if not continuously.

Nor has his flying been merely pro forma. He never goes out now without a co-pilot. In that he is obeying his own order, issued when the death of Gen. Oscar Westover, in a crash at Burbank, Cal., vacated the office of Chief of the Army Air Corps, to which Arnold was promoted. But his early record demonstrated that he is a topnotch flier in his own right.

Set Records
In June 1911, immediately up-

Gen. H. H. "Hap" Arnold

on graduation as a pilot, he became an instructor at the Army's new 1000-acre field at College Park, Md.

A year later he set an altitude record of 6540 feet in a Burgess Wright plane. In July and August, 1912, he made several records in Army-National Guard maneuvers in New York and Connecticut. In October, 1912, he won the first Mackay Trophy for the first reconnaissance flight—a 30-mile round-trip in a 40-horsepower Wright biplane. The plane's two propellers, in tandem, were operated from the motor by chains and sprockets like a bicycle and achieved the cruising speed of 43 miles an hour. Arnold sat on the wing. The air was so bumpy that part of the time he couldn't look at his map. The feat was, in its time, an epic.

He was the first man to fire a machine-gun from the air; he was the first pilot to fly air mail—a five-mile hop between two fields on Long Island; he was the first man to direct artillery fire by observation in the air over a plane-carried radio; he was to have been the first man to drop a bomb from a plane, but the craft wouldn't lift both "Hap" Arnold and the bomb, so he had to give way to a lighter pilot.

That small scar on his chin was received on a flight from Salem, Mass., to Bridgeport, Conn., in 1912, when he crash-landed on the ocean near Plymouth Beach. While he hung onto the wreckage he saw a volunteer rescue party of two old men in Civil War uniforms turn back because, they muttered, anybody foolish enough to try to fly wasn't worth rescuing.

In 1934 he received a second Mackay Trophy for leading a flight of 10 Martin bombers from Washington to Fairbanks, Alaska, and back, demonstrating that this country could be bombed from Alaska if we were careless enough to lose that outpost. He has a D. S. C. for the record-breaking 77-hour and 11-minute flight from Brisbane to San Francisco, in September, 1942, after he had completed a tour of the Pacific War zone.

He never has flown in combat, because his organizing and administrative ability was vitally needed. When World War I broke he was one of only 35 Army of-floers qualified to fly our 55 obsolete military planes. But he was sent to the Canal Zone to organize air defense there, and thenceforth was kept in Washington until hostilities were over.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harben-

Supported Mitchell

Inevitably, Arnold was a supporter of Gen. Billy Mitchell when that ardent protagonist of air power was being squelched by the reactionaries. Though he was more tactful than Mitchell, he did get into difficulties at times. He was one of the few officers who ventured to defend General Mitchell at the latter's court martial, and in 1926 he was officially reprimanded for too bluntly supporting Maj. Gen. Mason F. Patrick's demand for reorganization of the Air Corps.

Arnold now is one of the Big Five—Leahy, King, Marshall, Somervell and Arnold—who run our part of this war. He is a full-fledged four-star general. The job he has done will be written large in the final history of this war.

Let's Quit Fighting

ON THE basis of early unofficial returns from Tuesday's primary election in Michigan Vernon Brown has won the Republican nomination for the office of lieutenant governor and Dr. Eugene Keyes, one of the most unpredictable characters ever to gain prominence in political circles of the state, has been retired to private life.

Dr. Keyes possesses many pleasing qualities—he makes a good appearance — addresses audiences easily and there is no question about his educational attainments; but he does not have the qualities that permit him to work with others. On the State Administrative Board he became a lone wolf and an almost constant fault finder with administration policies. His course finally became unbearable to Gov. Kelly and other members of his cabinet and the bold stroke of asking the people to place Vernon Brown, an old and experienced state official, in the second spot of Michigan's government, was decided upon. It now seems that that the removal of the thorn in Gov. Kelly's official family, has been achieved.

For the good of the Republican party in Michigan it is hoped that Gov. Kelly and his advisors will settle down to the stern policy of winning Michigan for the Republican party in both state and national affairs at the November election. Gov. Kelly's successful battle to eliminate Frank D. McKay as national committeeman, has not served to engender complete party harmony. In spite of the desirability of removing Dr. Keyes from any official post in Michigan's government the course that had to be adopted gave the defeated candidate an opportunity to charge that he was a victim of a political machine.

All of these things have not served to build a strong and a united Republican party for the critically important election of this fall.

It is now time for Republicans to quit fighting among themselves and get seriously at the job of winning, decisively, the election of this fall.

No Surprise

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT made at a press conference on Tuesday the long expected announcement that he would be willing to accept renomination and reelection for a fourth term.

His statement was of no particular surprise, except that it had been anticipated he would not make it until the Democratic national convention opened in Chicago next week.

It has been long apparent that President Roosevelt was in a receptive mood for a fourth term. The major question remaining is whether Henry A. Wallace will be renominated by the Democrats. There have been an increasing number of indications of late that he would be shoved aside for a more popular candidate for the vice presidency.

Ford Optimistic

DESPITE his advanced age, Henry Ford still plans for the future and envisions new developments in the field of industry in a manner that is characteristic of men half his age.

Marquis Childs writes in his daily column that the octogenarian motor magnate is optimistic about the postwar prospects. He foresees new products that will come from both industry and agriculture, all of which will furnish employment and raise the American standard of living.

Many have been wondering what Ford will do with the vast Willow Run plant after it is finished with the job of making huge bomber planes. The answer to this question came from the Ford Motor company this week with the announcement that Willow Run will be converted to the production of tractors, with the possibility that it will also be used to manufacture cargo or passenger planes.

America will always be great if it has men with the energy and vision possessed by Ford.

Shot to Death

A PACK of mad dogs could hardly act more savagely than the German Gestapo which has foully murdered 59 British and Canadian officers who attempted to escape from German military camp Staig Luft III on the night of March 24-25.

These men were brutally done away with, some of them while still manacled. In explanation the Germans stated that 78 officers tunneled their way out of the camp and made a break for liberty. They were reportedly shot while attempting to resist arrest, but one officer who escaped and managed to reach Britain states that the men were turned over to the Gestapo, who first tortured them in attempts to find the escape leaders, then goaded them into violence and shot them down like dogs.

The names of some of the Gestapo men are known, and those responsible will be punished for their crimes after the war. Such retribution, however, can hardly be sufficient atonement for so foul a deed. The depths of infamy reached by the Gestapo in its treatment of defenseless European Jews are now paralleled by atrocities to combatants.

Germany signed an agreement with other nations some years ago, providing that prisoners of war will be kept in good health and will be protected as long as they remain peaceful. In case of escape, if a man submits quietly to arrest, he is not to be ill-treated, and no firearms are to be used. This agreement, for instance, has been carefully followed in the case of German prisoners' escape from the Evelyn Upper Peninsula and other war prisoner camps.

It is hard not to think of retaliation for such terrible crimes. Britain and Canada are known as Christian and civilized nations, but their people will have a hard time forgiving so brutal a crime as this.

Poison Gas

SWEDISH travelers who have visited Berlin and other German cities recently, tell strange tales of pill-boxes at street intersections, with black uniformed SS patrols everywhere. Tanks equipped with flame throwers rumble past factory gates as a warning of what is coming if workers neglect their tasks.

Word has been passed around that at the first sign of mob violence poison gas will be sprayed from airplanes on the workers and the slaves. This prospect is a terrible one to the latter, for none of them have masks.

Meanwhile vast quantities of poison gas have been accumulated by the Allies. Wherever Americans or British troops land, great stacks of gas cylinders are unloaded too, and Nazi spies know it. Let the Axis start anything in the gas line, and our chemical warfare department will cut loose, with the prevailing west wind behind it. It would be a frightful retaliation, but this is a frightful war, and the Germans, who started all out gas activities in the last war, may find their Waterloo if they try it again.

Gas is a hideous weapon, and the Allies will never use it unless they are forced to do so. If they ever do cut loose, Hitler's waning tenure of power will be further and drastically shortened.

HELP KEEP PARKS TIDY (Grand Rapids Press)

Probably more so than at any time since they were established Kent county's parks are being used by the public. It no longer is possible for the average family to drive long distances for a one-day outing, but by scripping a bit here and there on the use of the family car most families are able to enjoy an occasional day in one of the parks carries with it, however, a greater responsibility on the part of the public than ever before. Like other employers, Kent county is confronted with a manpower shortage and does not find it possible to keep on hand at every park a staff of workers large enough to keep each park in tip-top order at all times without the co-operation of users.

At one crowded county park in particular it recently was noted that thoughtless picnickers left a table and its surrounding grounds cluttered with waste paper and food. Fortunately this sort of thing is the exception and it should remain an exception and a rare one at that. It is the responsibility of each person enjoying a park to see to it that the park is kept tidy and clean. Through public co-operation the parks can be maintained in the same condition that has made them a delight to all of us in the past.

SWASTIKA

This ancient and, until recently, quasi-religious symbol should not be referred to as "swah-STEE-kuh." That accent falls only on the first syllable. Say: SWASS-ti-kuh or: SWAIISS-ti-kuh.

The word is from the Sanskrit svastika, "well-being." The swas-tika is said to be one of the oldest ornamental figures in the world, and it has been found in the primitive art of almost every race; and as far back as the Bronze Age. It is especially prevalent in the decorative art of the American Indian.

Until the advent of the Nazi party, the swastika was variously a symbol of good luck, a semi-religious talisman, a charm for warding off evil. But Hitler has profaned it beyond redemption, for, says he in Mein Kampf, "We see in it (the swastika) the mission Aryan man—it always will be anti-Semitic (anti-Jewish)."

Thus the swastika (the Nazis called it hakenkreuz, "hook cross") has become a symbol that will endure for ages as a reminder of the evil genius of Hitler and his followers for befouling everything and everyone their influence has ever touched.

IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE

Q. Please explain "cynosure" in the phrase, "He is the cynosure of all eyes."

Answer: The word is from the Greek kynosoura, "a dog's tail." The constellation (Ursa Minor) also bears the name Cynosure. Since it contains the North Star, the eyes of mariners have ever sought the constellation for guidance. Hence the extended meaning, "a center of attraction."

World War In The Air

BY MAJOR A. P. de SEVERSKY

The extent of casualties and destruction visited upon England by the flying bomb or pilotless airplane again underlines the fact that modern war is, among other things, a gigantic race in technological inventiveness. The Germans, as these dispatches have already pointed out, have been pretty consistently ahead in that race although they have usually failed to make proper military use of their advantages in this respect.

In any event, science makes terrific strides under the impetus of war. And when the conflict is ended it does not much matter which side did the inventing, since all of the products of war-time ingenuity are then normally made available to all mankind. Only the wisdom and the energy of various nations will determine the measure to which they will utilize for pacific ends the new ideas and techniques released by the life-and-death challenge of war.

If war helps step up inventions, it at the same time prevents maximum exploitation of those inventions. Every innovation has to contend with enemy opposition, which often interferes with the complete application of a new discovery or development.

—SEES GREAT FUTURE—

I believe that the many scientific marvels revealed by the present conflict will prove even more marvelous when their full use is no longer hampered by the conditions of war-making. That is why I count myself among those airmen who take a very optimistic view of the potentialities of aviation in the years immediately after the war.

Aeronautics has been especially stimulated by war needs. But by the same token its fullest application has been retarded by enemy action at every turn. When the war inventions and discoveries in the domain of aviation are made available for commercial purposes in a world at peace, their scope will be so vastly enlarged that even the most imaginative forecasters may appear to have been mild in the light of reality.

As I see it, the key word in the aftermath of this most destructive war will be speed. Humankind will be in a fearful hurry to dig out of the debris, to reconstruct and to resume normal existence. Other considerations, including economy, will in large measure be sacrificed to speed—and the main instrumentality of speed will be the airplane in its many variations, from the helicopter to the long-range stratospheric plane, from the familiar air flivver to the pilotless rocket conveyors.

We need only look at any typical aviation development to recognize how it can be exploited to the full once the hazards of enemy opposition are eliminated. The supercharged cabin for flight at very high altitudes can serve as an example. Supercharging is essential because the human body cannot survive at the low pressure altitudes of 40,000 feet or more. At the same time the airplane can perform more efficiently at those heights because of reduced air resistance. The dilemma is resolved by the hermetically sealed cabin carrying its own air with pressure adjusted to the normal needs of the human being.

—STARTED ON T. W. A.—

The supercharger was put into use before the war when the Boeing Stratoliner with its supercharged cabin was put on scheduled runs of the T.W.A. But since then, and up to date, remarkably little has been done by any of the belligerents in this matter. The biggest job in this field was again achieved by Boeing, in its new B-29 superbomber. Considering that much greater speeds can be developed in the upper air levels, why has so little been done to utilize the supercharger?

The answer is that under combat conditions a supercharged cabin constitutes an additional hazard. If the plane is riddled by bullets or torn by high explosives, the sudden change of pressure will endanger the lives of the crew.

No such considerations will interfere with fullest application of the principles of supercharging in peace-time. The airplane of the near future, I believe, all the way from the small privately owned craft to the huge airliners, will fly at stratospheric altitudes when making great distances non-stop. At those levels, moreover, they will cruise at speeds approximating the speed of sound.

Jet and rocket propulsion, of course, will likewise find new and new unimagined uses, particularly in the realm of speed, once the hazards of war are removed. Even the pilotless airplane, now a messenger of destruction, will be available for valuable uses, traveling with absolute accuracy across long distances at terrific speeds.

—REIN ON GYROSCOPE—

Here again we see how enemy action puts brakes on the maximum utilization of a scientific invention. Aircraft can be designed today to follow accurately a radio beam anywhere on the face of the earth, whether the plane is piloted or pilotless. But in war-time such remote beam guidance can be counteracted and distorted by the enemy at the target end.

That is why Germany thus far has not used electronic means of controlling direction in its robot bombs, relying exclusively on gyroscopic stabilization, with consequent loss of accuracy beyond relatively short distances. Over the distance of roughly 100 miles it would require a target as large as London in order to score hits with any assurance.

In time of peace there will be no such interference with electronic controls. Planes, piloted and pilotless, will utilize the new possibilities to the utmost and automatic navigation will make flying safer and easier than driving an automobile.

Good Morning!

YOU AND BONDS—Our Delta county boys are doing fine on all the fighting fronts of the world—but here in Delta county we're sitting around like a bunch of slackers.

You see there's a War Loan drive underway. Maybe you haven't noticed because you've been so busy looking at the pleasant headlines and thinking the war will be over pretty soon. Maybe you haven't noticed that every time we make a major gain on the war front it's costing thousands of lives and millions of dollars. Maybe you haven't noticed the growing list of casualties reported back here in Delta county.

It stacks up this way: The sale of "E" bonds (the kind the people themselves must purchase in quantities if the war is to be financed) is way down in this county. In fact Delta has the worst record of any county in the Upper Peninsula.

Delta county's "E" bond quota in the Fifth War Loan Drive which closes the last of this month is $534,000. So far only about $200,000 in "E" bonds have been sold, which leaves $334,000 yet to go before the end of the month.

MISSING IN ACTION —These days when you don't invest your savings in war bonds, but hide it away in your sock or a saving account, your money is "missing in action." You have made your money a casualty of war, of little value to yourself, and of no value to your country and its fighting men.

Suppose you had a son missing in action instead of your dollars. What would you do?

You would do the same as the parents of 23 boys missing in action from Delta county are doing: You'd try to find out for sure to end the anxiety. The War Department, after the first notice that your son was a casualty, would notify you each three months that there was no change in the classification, and at the end of a year you would be advised that he is presumed to be dead.

Are your dollars "dead" dollars? Or are they still "missing in action"? Take a good look at your money and figure it out for yourself.

THEY WERE EXPENDABLE —Since when has it been considered patriotic to give our sons and husbands to our country as expendable material—and hang onto our dollars?

Even this comparison is not complete, however. For the boys who are killed will never return, those who are wounded will never be the same again—but you will get your investment back plus a high rate of interest.

Take a look at this list of casualties from Delta county and then ask yourself whether your dollars are more important:

26 killed in action.
23 missing in action.
11 prisoners of war.
9 died in non-combat.
3 died in service.
Scores wounded.

WHAT? NO MONEY?—Bankers say that savings accounts are increasing in amount—but War Bond drive leaders report sale of "E" bonds lagging. What are we to infer from this? Only that Delta county slackers are more inclined to hang onto their money than they are to help their country and its fighting men.

There's no need to say we haven't the money to invest in bonds, not when Tommy Gasman, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gasman of 2nd North 19th street, can put his money into the purchase of nine $25 bonds and one

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1934

President Roosevelt cruised out into the Pacific and headed for the distant Hawaiian Islands. He was aboard the U. S. S. Cruiser Houston.

Strike paralysis crept father along the channels of Pacific coast commerce today, and San Francisco began to take on the aspects of a beleaguered city in the face of a threatened general walkout. Roosevelt's labor dispute board is apparently helpless to intervene.

Santo Domingo received its full independence and General Horacio Vasquez was inaugurated as president of the Dominican republic.

25 Years Ago—1919

Debate of the Prohibition bill was concluded in the House. Dry leaders do not expect a vote on the measure before the end of the week.

The German stock of gold coin was cut down, the loss being due to reparations made Belgium and Russia for gold stolen from these nations in the war.

Sgt. Douglas Kimber, son of C. F. Kimber, has arrived in Boston from Russia where he had been stationed with Army forces in the Archangel section.

$50 bond since the war started. And he's done that by selling papers and magazines.

Tommy has two brothers in service. Coxswain Ray Gasman is slugging away at the Japs in the South Pacific, has been in service three years; M/M/c Jim Gasman is being sent home from Italy.

Heatened in one ear in the battle for Salerno. He has been in nearly two years.

How about the savings account boys? Are they in the war or are they going to sit it out with their dollars?

A PUBLISHED LIST — War bond drive leaders in recent meeting seriously discussed the problem of bringing those "missing dollars" (and their owners) out into the open.

"It's a shame we have to put on a lot of bullhoo to get people to invest their money in war bonds," said one.

"And it's a shame that people who could buy a $1,000 bond buy $100, and the men and women who could take $100 bonds buy $25 bonds," said another who knew.

There were recollections of the days of World War I and the suggestion that the black-lack of a published list of slackers be revived. It may never be done—let's hope it doesn't have to be done.

Frankly, a published list might have a good effect in the sale of bonds, but it blackens characters for many years to come. Better to let a man's conscience figure out for itself whether that man is the owner of "slacker dollars" or "fighting dollars." How about you?

The Lyons Den

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK—Whit Burnett's "This Is My Best," a collection of short stories written by the best writers in America, has been sold for radio dramatization. A liquor company will sponsor the series.

Dr. James Reynolds, father of Quentin Reynolds, retired last week as Asst. Sup. of Schools in Brooklyn. Dr. Reynolds, who passed his Bar exams but never practiced law, now will start a law career, defending cases for the poor. The young War Production Board official who won the $25,000 Pabst Post-War prize is headed for the Navy as an apprentice seaman. The N. Y. Times won't decide before September on its choice for the Presidency. The President expects the paver to support Dewey.

NEXT WEEK the first reconversion orders, favored by Donald Nelson and the Truman Committee, will be issued from Washington. Jimmy Byrnes, who opposed this at first, has changed his mind. Marilyn Maloney, daughter of the Senator from Connecticut, will make her stage debut under the sponsorship of Max Gordon. Miss Maloney now is completing her drama courses at Yale. The Democratic Convention isn't expected to last longer than 3 days.

On Wednesday Mayor Kelly and Senator Lucas will make addresses of welcome to the delegates, and Wednesday night Mrs. Charles W. Tillet will speak. On Thursday Sen. Jackson will read the platform, a short one of under 1200 words. That evening Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas and Quentin Reynolds will speak. Then the nominations will begin.

CHARLES B. COCHRAN, the veteran British producer, had to close two newly-opened hit plays in London because the new robot bombs kept the customers away. Linton Collins, special assistant to the Attorney-General, has resigned to return to private law practice. The Truman Committee has made a study of how the Army used the skilled laborers who have been drafted. The Committee's report will reveal that only a small percentage of these skilled laborers had their full talents utilized by the Army.

Danny Kaye's new radio contract has some unique clauses. It's for 33 weeks and grants him the final say on summer replacement, as well as on the wordage of the commercials.

A GROUP of Broadway show-folk, led by Helen Hayes, Paul Robeson, Moss Hart and Jose Ferrer, will leave on Thursday for a "March to Albany." They will try to see Gov. Dewey to induce him to change his mind about the Soldiers' vote. Ed Flynn, the former Chairman of the Dem. Natl. Committee, will try to get vindication for his diplomatic rebuff last year. After the election, Flynn will make his bid for the post of Ambassador to Italy. The Fred Allens leave for Hollywood on Thursday. When Fred probably will appear in a Broadway show. Ambassador Steinhardt is expected back from Turkey shortly.

SIDNEY HILLMAN, the labor leader, is still quite ill. William A. Murphy, head of the War Production Board's Administrative Service, is resigning to join the Guffenhagen Associates. Leslie Charteris' "Saint Series" of detective stories has been auditioned for radio sponsorship. Daphne Du Maurier, author of "Rebecca," has just completed her first play. An Independent Voters Committee of Artists, Writers and Scientists now is being organized to work for Roosevelt's re-election. The sponsors include Ethel Barrymore, Koussevitzky, Helen Keller, Jo Davidson, Tom Benton and Van Wyck Brooks.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington — President Roosevelt is not the easiest person to give advice to, but some of those around him are trying to figure out ways and means of telling him to keep his political enemies out of choice spots inside his own White House.

One man they have in mind is Fred Searls, Jr., who recently contributed $2,000 to the Dewey campaign, but who has an office inside the White House as the right-hand man of Justice Jimmy Byrnes and Will Clayton. He is No. 1 aide in the disposal of vital surplus war property for which all the big companies are scrambling.

Last week, Senator Serenham of Nevada and his subcommittee on small mining business issued a scathing blast against Fred Searls, charging him with holding up the production of U. S. minerals for the benefit of big foreign mining firms. Searls is a heavy investor in mines in Africa and Canada which compete with American mines, and the committee's inference was that Searls was helping his own foreign companies.

Searls is the mainspring of the Newmont Mining Company, considered a J. P. Morgan concern, which controls 28 large mines in Africa, South America and the Orient. He is also a director of a half dozen other African, Canadian and Oriental mines.

—SEARLS' INFLUENCE—

Before coming over to the White House, Searls was with the WPB facilities bureau, where he could grant, or deny facilities to mining firms. The Senate committee, in criticizing him, quoted from a letter written soon after Pearl Harbor in which, as a WPB official, Searls opposed any increase in U. S. production of copper, zinc and other scarce metals.

"This," according to the Senate committee, "was certainly placing the cart before the horse with a vengeance. Unfortunately, this Searls policy, which could only have been based on a short-war viewpoint, was adopted by and steadily influenced many of the War Production Board mineral divisions. . . . Its committees and its successors to date."

"As production adviser to office of War Mobilization Director Byrnes," continued the Senate report, "it is not to be expected that Searls' influence has been less than it was in his previous inferior position." Actually, Searls, simultaneously with being one of the ten largest contributors to Dewey, has been promoted. He is now right-hand man to Will Clayton in disposing of surplus properties. Working closely with him is another J. P. Morgan man and an official in the Newmont Mining Company, Franz Schneider.

Acting from Clayton, former head of the world's largest cotton firm, these two have virtual final word over what is to become of U. S. Government war plants that have cost the taxpayers millions.

—"OLD ARMY" ARMSTRONG—

When U. S. B-29's rained explosives on Japan's steel works, there was a story behind the scenes regarding the officer who trained those expert pilots.

That officer is Brig. Gen. Frank A. Armstrong, one of the most daring and best-loved officers ever to fly a plane over Germany. For months, Armstrong, based in England, was in command of raid after raid over enemy territory—and led them himself. At that time, he held the rank of colonel. Several times, planes were almost shot out from under him, but he kept on flying.

Coupled with his daring, "Old Army," as they call Armstrong, had an unusual knack of getting close to his men. They worshipped him.

So General "Hap" Arnold wisely decided to capitalize on this by bringing Armstrong back to the U. S. A. to train the crews which were to undertake the most difficult bombing missions of the war—over industrial Japan.

Knowing that Armstrong might be shot down sooner or later if he insisted on flying with his men over Germany, Arnold ordered "Old Army" home and out to Grand Island, Nebraska. There, above the prairies of Kansas and Nebraska, he has been training the men who raided Japan and who will make many more such raids before the war is over.

—COURTING WILKIE—

Backstage maneuvering to inveigle Wendell Wilkie into the Dewey camp without actually committing Dewey himself to any principles Wilkie stands for, has reached ludicrous dimensions. All sorts of people are acting as alleged go-betweens for Dewey and Wilkie—or trying to.

Latest was a weird story that Clare Boothe Luce, comely Congresswoman from Connecticut, had sessioned with Wilkie. The story actually got into print—apparently inspired by Albany. But it wasn't true. Here is the real inside on what did happen.

Wilkie was week-ending with friends in Connecticut when Mrs. Luce phoned, asking if he could come to her nearby home for a talk. Wilkie happened to have other engagements. But even if he hadn't had them, Connecticut political friends got the impression that he was not anxious to talk Dewey politics, even with the beautiful Clare.

Anyway, he didn't. But out of Albany ten hours later, came a story that he had seen Mrs. Luce and that she was vamping him into the Dewey corner. The fact that the story came from Albany is considered significant. Obviously, the Dewey camp knew of Mrs. Luce's plan, perhaps inspired it. All of which appears to bear out the opinion of political prognosticators that Wilkie can swing about ten per cent of the vote whichever way he wants it.

FILL FUEL OIL DRUMS EARLY

Fourth Of Consumers In County Still Lack Applications

Approximately one fourth of the Delta county fuel oil consumers have not yet made application for fuel oil ration for the next season, the OPA office reported yesterday in urging all fuel oil consumers to make application now and to fill their oil containers early.

"There is sufficient fuel oil available to meet consumers' needs provided application is made early enough to utilize all of the available storage space in private homes," an OPA spokesman reported.

The Office of Price Administration emphasized that virtually all of the ships in the huge American navy are powered with oil, but that the government possesses limited storage space to meet its tremendous requirements.

Householders who burn oil for heating purposes must fill their drums and other containers as soon as possible so that the available government storage space may be reserved for essential war purposes, the OPA declared. It was added that the problem of transportation also enters prominently into the picture.

"Unless there is general cooperation with the plea for filling oil storage containers at home early, many householders will find themselves without sufficient rations to meet their heating needs next winter," the OPA reported.

PAY RAISE DENIED

Marquette—Because hourly and monthly rates of pay for workers in Marquette's municipal department stand out "most favorably" with rates paid for comparable jobs in private industry in this area, the city commission, acting as a committee of the whole, yesterday decided unanimously to deny the request of city employees for a 25 per cent increase in wages.

The commission, in a statement issued following its action, said that if any employee, because of special skill, believes he can earn higher wages in private industry, the commission will grant him full release and certify as to his availability.

GOING TO SEATTLE

Ishpeming—Dr. Neal J. McCann, for 19 years a resident of Ishpeming, has resigned his position as city health officer and will move later in the month, to Seattle, where he will begin a private practice in medicine.

It also was announced today that Dr. W. A. Corcoran has resigned his position as a member of the staff of the Ishpeming hospital and will take over Dr. McCann's Marquette county practice. He will continue to reside in Ishpeming.

Dr. McCann came here in 1933, as a physician for the CCC camps in this district. He previously had been in Baltimore as doctor for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and later practiced industrial medicine in Chicago. After a year with the CCC organization, he resigned to enter private practice in Ishpeming.

With The AEF

Kenneth L. Dixon

WITH THE AEF IN ITALY, June 22, (delayed) (AP)—It's a mistake to let the word get around that you're writing stories about screwball captures. During the latter swifter stages of this campaign they start flooding in by the scores.

For instance: After the battle was over Pvt. David Thomas, Lorain, Ohio, picked out a nice roomy dug-out where he had held four Germans a few hours earlier. He carried in his bedroll, rifle and equipment, making several trips. Then he started cleaning the joint out—discarding German rifles, bayonets and other equipment.

When he came to an old worn-out shoe, he decided to throw it out, too. The shoe started kicking; the sleeping body attached to it awoke and started yelling. Dave went in to action. Results: one more captured German.

Crawled Into Haystack

Similar is the story of 2nd Lt. Victor M. Mahan of DePere, Wis., who crawled wearily into the haystack for a good night's sleep, crawled out again the next morning and was happily chewing a K ration when a German lieutenant came scrambling sleepily out of the nearest haystack. He surrendered in time to join in breakfast coffee.

Then there was the unarmed medic who was walking past a farm house when seven Jerries reared up and aimed their rifles his way. Frantically he tore the camouflage netting from his helmet and pointed at the Red Cross. They lowered their guns and he walked up with his hands high.

But as he approached they went into a quick huddle. After all, the Fifth Army advance had been so quick that they were left behind when their units fled. As the medic reached them they all dropped their guns and raised their hands.

Stunned, he stared at them a moment. Then he got the idea and marched them back to the nearest prisoners of war enclosure. After turning them in he fainted.

Efficiency Expert

Pvt. Ryar Baker of Kalamazoo, Mich., on the other hand, is something of an efficiency expert. He passed the hospital collecting station as he was escorting four prisoners to the rear and the lieutenant told him they needed help to get the wounded back.

Baker turned his prisoners into litter bearers and the procession seemed to have magnetic quality. Out of their isolated hiding places as the strange group passed came eight other Germans who fell in line took their turns at carrying the litters.

It was 1:30 in the morning when a noise was heard around the kitchen mess of the Artillery Battery. Someone was obviously messing around the mess—a circumstance which always makes soldiers suspicious. Staff Sgt. Blackie Norris of Watonga, Okla., woke up. So did Sgt. Harold Martin of Frederick, Okla., and Pvt. Buck Gray, another sooner from sement.

They saw a figure in the moonlight and took off after him. Round and round the battery area the crazy chase went. Finally Buck, being a private and consequently somewhat faster on his feet, nabbed the intruder with a flying tackle.

He was a German paratrooper whose hunger had led him to slip out of his hiding place and go chow hunting.

No Cash Prizes For Victory Gardeners

Marquette—Prizes and awards as a means of stimulating Victory Garden activity this year, has been abandoned but George E. Bishop, Upper Peninsula director of victory gardens, said he believed the need for food on the home front will be sufficient to bring out the best endeavors of victory gardeners.

A state-wide garden census will be taken through the facilities of local defense councils this summer, the garden chairman declared. Food banks, as a means of conserving surplus from victory gardens for use in school lunch programs and institutions are being stimulated from advance reports. Michigan's garden census will show an increase over the 1943 production record.

WATER LEVELS
LOWER IN '44

About Three-Quarters Of Foot Below Mark
Last August

With present water levels of Lakes Michigan and Huron approximately three-quarters of a foot lower than the August high of last year, the conservation department expects no repetition this season of the extensive beach damage caused in Muskegon, Ludington, Mears (Pentwater) and Bay City state parks last summer.

Water levels are due to reach their 1944 high next month but the expected level is likely to be a half foot lower than last August's peak. Lakes Michigan and Huron levels of June were approximately 1.4 feet below the high stage of June, 1929 and 2.81 feet above the low stage of June, 1934.

Lower water levels this summer will replace some sand stripped from state park beaches last season. In some cases, as at Mears state park, fills must be made to restore parking space where high water washed close to the highway. It was necessary to move some beach equipment out of the way of encroaching wave action at Muskegon state park last summer.

Library Adventures

By Arnold Mulder

DESCENDANTS OF
"BEN-HUR"

Five years ago, with the publication of such books as A. J. Cronin's "The Citadel," novels about doctors were epidemic. Today there is a similar run on novels about religion, religious leaders and movements. In the earlier epidemic it used to be asserted that any novel about doctors was sure to make a hit, no matter how poor it might be as a novel. Something of the same sort can almost be said about today's novels about religion. And goodness knows, some of them are poor enough but in spite of that fact they ring the cash register bell with a clang that is almost deafening.

The most spectacular success in this group is of course "The Robe," by Lloyd Douglas. It does not take any courage to make the assertion that "The Robe" is slated for oblivion; Lloyd Douglas has no more chance of getting a footnote in the history of American fiction than an ice cube has of surviving in a blast furnace.

A far less popular but more solid religious novel, artistically speaking, is Zofia Kossak's "Blessed Are the Meek," a fictionalized life of St. Francis. As is true of "The Robe" it is both a religious novel and a historical novel. It's lack of the great popularity of the Douglas book is probably due to the fact that its history is far less familiar to the average reader than the events of the Sunday school lessons that are described in "The Robe."

The enormous popularity of some novels about the more familiar religious leaders and movements comes largely from a class of readers who do not usually take to novels. That is, they read the books not so much as novels as they read them as animated sermons. A half a century ago "Quo Vadis?" was read by the millions as a novelized version of the mission of St. Peter to Rome in Nero's reign, and nearly half a century before that Lew Wallace made the same kind of hit with "Ben-Hur." Most of the religious novels of today are in fact descendants of that book.

"Ben-Hur" is of course a mediocre novel from any angle from which it may be considered. It owed its initial popularity to mid-nineteenth century interest in piety, and that popularity has become traditional. Comparatively few of the millions who have bought the book have subjected it to judgement by artistic standards. And obviously a work of art should be judged by such standards.

There is not the slightest reason why the greatest novel ever written should not be a religious novel; the sad fact merely is that such novels seldom are above the mediocre, popular though they sometimes are. Religion has inspired and motivated some of the greatest works of art of all time. There is, for instance, "The Divine Comedy," which has been called the "voice of five silent centuries." And there is England's "Paradise Lost." And there are others.

Religion appears to have inspired the poet more than the novelist. But even the novelist sometimes becomes incandescent on the theme of religion. "Pilgrim's Progress" is unquestionably one of the greatest works of art in literature. Also, it is a religious novel in the best sense of the word. Bunyan's "Grace Abounding," although not a novel in form but an autobiography, is just as truly motivated by religion and its greatness lies in its naive and childlike sincerity.

There is no reason why the religious novel or poem or play should not be great. Occasionally such books are supremely great. But all too often the merely spectacular and sensational give a phoney impression of greatness. Most of such books that win the public are not too vigorous descendants of "Ben-Hur."

Foreigners were not admitted to the Chinese city of Changsha until the end of the 19th century.

Bureau Meeting Is Planned At Ironwood

Marquette—Annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau will be held at Ironwood October 12 and 13, it was announced here today by George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Bureau.

The 34th annual meeting will be attended by officers, directors and members. The Michigan Resort and Travel Planning Committee, of which Bishop is chairman, a subcommittee of the State Planning commission, will also meet at Ironwood at the same time.

Bishop, in making the announcement, said that other post-war planning groups are being invited "and a program as constructive and vital to the needs of the Upper Peninsula as that which was held at Blaney Park in the fall of 1943 is being planned."

through his normal hell a lot more willingly if he knows that he is getting some credit for it and that the home folks know about it.

As a result of this neglect in the Mediterranean, the Ninth laid careful plans so that it wouldn't happen again. In the first place, a new censorship policy was arrived at, under which the identities of the divisions taking part in this campaign would be publicly released just as soon as it was definitely established that the Germans knew they were in combat.

With that big hurdle accomplished, the Ninth made sure that the correspondents themselves would feel at home with them. They set up a small public-relations section, with an officer in charge, and a squad of enlisted men to move the correspondents' gear, and a truck to haul it, and three tents with cots, electric lights and tables.

Correspondents who came with the Ninth could get a meal, a place to write, a jeep for the front, or a courier to the rear—and at the time they asked for it.

Of course, in spite of all such facilities, a division has to be good in the first if it is going to get good publicity. The Ninth is good. It performed like a beautiful machine in the Cherbourg campaign. Its previous battle experience paid off. Not only in individual fighting but in the perfect way the whole organization clicked. As I have tried to tell before, war depends a great deal more on organization than most people would ever dream.

The Ninth did something in this campaign that we haven't always done in the past. It kept tenaciously on the enemy's neck. When the Germans would withdraw, a little the Ninth was right on top of them. It never gave them a chance to reassemble or get their balance.

The Ninth moved so fast it got to be funny. I was based at the Division command post, and we struck our tents and moved forward six times in seven days.

That works the daylight out of the boys who take down and put up the tents. I overheard one of the boys saying: "I'd rather be with Ringling Brothers."

Usually a Division headquarters is a fairly safe place. But with the Ninth it was different. Something was always happening.

One night they had a bad shelling and lost some personnel. Every now and then snipers would pick off somebody. In all the time I was with them we never had an uninterrupted night's sleep. Our own big guns were all around us and they would fire all night. Usually German planes were over too, droning around in the darkness and making us tense and nervous.

One night I was sitting in a tent with Capt. Lindsey Nelson, of Knoxville, when there was a loud explosion, then a shrill whine through the tree tops over our heads. But we didn't jump, or hit the dirt. Instead I said:

"I know what that is. That's the rotating band off one of our shells. As an old artilleryman I've heard lots of rotating bands. Sometimes they sound like a dog howling. There's nothing to be afraid of."

"Sure," said Captain Nelson. "That's what it was, a rotating band."

But our harmless rotating band we found a few minutes later, was a jagged, red-hot, foot-square fragment of steel from a 240-MM German shell which had landed a hundred yards away from us. It's wonderful to be a wise guy.

St. Nicholas was well represented at a "bee" held the early part of the week at Rock to put a new asphalt roof on the Sacred Heart church, and also to give the building a coat of paint.

Ladies of the Sacred Heart parish served dinner and lunch to the workers.

Another bee will be held soon to complete the work.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of
A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE C-292: Claud F., aged 42, is a prominent Southern attorney.

"We now have 2,100,000 persons on the civilian federal payroll," he stated in a recent address before a business and professional men's club.

"That is 2 1/2 million more workers than the normal quota. When our country needs manpower so badly that fathers are told to get into the army, why do we have these political parasites squandering our taxes on their salaries?"

"A large number of them are simply political snipers, trying to catch their fellow citizens in error. And in the 1944 November election these 2,100,000 workers, allowing the usual three votes per political employee, will be able to muster out close to 9,000,000 votes to continue themselves in power."

"Our economic health and business efficiency would doubtless increase if we'd simply let the country alone. We are patriotic citizens with horse sense, so we can handle our own manufacturing and business affairs far better without this vast army of snipers to interfere with us."

As a psychologist and physician, I am especially interested in this man's final paragraph.

He says that business and industry can function better when left alone.

In modern medicine we are also learning that the less we do to interfere with the normal bodily processes, the sooner the body will cure itself of disease. So we use much less medicine now than in former years.

In psychology, too, we know that a fearful, anxious person cannot do his best work. Fear and uncertainty demoralize human efficiency.

If our body politic is to function most efficiently, therefore, it seems quite logical that the less red tape and interference from Washington, the less political doctoring and threatening, the more questioned to note the change in time.

Youth Fellowship
The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Central Methodist church will meet this evening at eight o'clock. The annual election of officers will be held. Refreshments will be served.

The conferees of the class of 1944 are urged to attend. Plans for the Michigan Institute will be made.

efficient Uncle Sam will be.

Our federal Congressmen and Senators should stop appropriating money for these unnecessary 2 1/2 million political parasites.

It is high time states rights were invoked again. This buying of federal elections should be stopped, regardless of which party is in power.

If Thomas Jefferson were alive today, do you think he would condone this sinister threat to American liberty?

Our National Tammany
In the past decade we have seen corrupt Tammany politics and the purchase of votes, spread over the 48 states.

The two political parties have previously been pretty evenly divided in total voting strength. A difference of only two or three million votes would determine the election of one president versus the other.

Now, however, we have an "extra" 2 1/2 million civilian workers on the federal payroll representing 7,000,000 votes. This is worse than Tammany in its heyday!

Residents of New York state, for example, are helping pay the salaries of 90,000 federal payrollers who have been sent into Ohio. The votes of the latter and their families or stooges, can throw the electoral vote of Ohio, for they'll mean a quarter of a million buckeye votes.

This federal vote buying creates a centralized dictatorship of the worst sort, and vitates the very doctrines of our American Constitution.

It was federal vote buying and political corruption of the Roman Republic which led to its fall. Caesar then took over control.

The handwriting is on the wall of our American democracy, unless we and the present American Congress stop this buying of national elections!

MILLER FAMILY IN AUTO CRASH

Local Physician Injured
In Mishap Near
Harrison

Dr. A. H. Miller, well known Gladstone physician, is a patient in St. Luke's hospital, Marquette, as a result of injuries suffered in an automobile accident, which occurred between Clare and Harrison in the lower peninsula at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, it was learned here yesterday.

Dr. Miller, who is coordinator for the Crippled Children's commission in the upper peninsula, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Jean, left Gladstone Saturday morning enroute to a meeting of the Ethics Commission of the Michigan State Medical society, scheduled to be held Sunday at Lansing.

Two miles out of Harrison they were involved in a head-on collision with a truck, loaded with generator parts, which was traveling on the wrong side of the road, as the Miller car topped the crest of a hill.

The first automobile at the scene of the accident was driven by Dr. Cook, of Lansing, who immediately summoned an ambulance, and the Miller family was taken to the hospital at Clare. Mrs. Miller was treated for minor cuts and bruises and Jean received 14 stitches, which were necessary to close a head wound.

Preliminary examinations at the hospital at Clare revealed that Dr. Miller suffered chest injuries and a possible fracture of the knee. He was moved to St. Luke's Monday and was to be given a complete X-ray examination there yesterday to determine the full extent of his injuries.

RECREATION CENTER?

Has Gladstone an interest in their younger set? No they haven't.

Do they care that their girls are picking up dates on street corners to get to places where they can dance? No.

Have they any idea of what kind of entertainment these youngsters enjoy? No.

Where is your recreation center? You have none.

Wake up citizens of Gladstone before it is too late. Call your younger set together and let them have a voice in picking their own entertainment. This is a fast moving world today and youngsters can't get by on the promise of a recreation center some time in the future. With your help you can stop this street walking crowd, parked cars and stolen liquor parties. Show your younger set that you do care—or don't you?

Four Delegates To Attend Conference

Guest speaker at the conference this year will be Dr. Peter Person of North Park college, Chicago. He will conduct the junior bureau Bible hour daily at 9 a. m., the worship hour at 11 o'clock and inspirational hour at 7:30 p. m.

Nab Joseph Lucier And Edward Randall On Larceny Charge

Edward Randall of Gladstone and Joseph Raymond Lucier of Brampton were ordered to pay $5 court costs by Judge Henry Ranguette at Escanaba yesterday afternoon after they had pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny from the parking lot near the paper mill at Groos.

A $5 fine was suspended by Judge Ranguette, who gave the boys an alternative of paying court costs or paying another visit to the county jail.

See Dewey And Kelly Winners In Michigan

Detroit, Mich.—Almost every one I've talked with during my brief stay here believes that Governor Dewey will carry Michigan, his birth state, in November.

Even some of those who are working hardest through the CIO political action committee to prevent this from happening concede that, as of today, Dewey has the edge over President Roosevelt in this state.

Wayne county, with the big industrial area of Detroit and environs, will go Democratic but the strong probability is that the middle-class and farm vote in the rest of the state will overcome the industrial vote.

The CIO, from top to bottom, is out to register the thousands of new voters who have come here for war jobs. The zeal of the local unit of the political action committee, under the direction of Gustave Scholle, sometimes leads to disputes with the slightly moribund Democratic organization.

M. Childs

Refused Polls at Plants

Sometimes, too, it leads to differences with management in the big motor plants that are converted to war production. Not long ago, Walter P. Reuther, vice president of the United Automobile workers, asked permission to set up voting registration booths in General Motors plants. Harry W. Anderson, vice president of GM in charge of labor relations, said no.

Reuther argued that neither the company nor the union could tell a man how to vote; that it was merely aiding the process of Democracy. To make it easier for a citizen to get his name on the registration books, But Anderson, insisting it would interfere with production, repeated his no. Union members of voting age are now being registered in union halls, schools and even churches.

Talking with union leaders here, you get an idea of why they feel it is so important to re-elect President Roosevelt. They see management stiffening against union organization in the belief that an inevitable swing toward Republicanism is on the way. They seem convinced that neither Dewey nor any other Republican president could resist the powerful demands of his industry to weaken the Wagner Act and other safeguards to union organization written into the law under the new deal.

Stakes Are Big

Their hope is that, with another four years, industrial unionism will be finally accepted beyond any hope of overthrow. Moreover, they profess to believe that Roosevelt, in what would be his final term, could tighten up new deal reforms.

The stakes are big. The UAW claims a dues-paying membership in Michigan of between 550,000 and 600,000 with 400,000 in the metropolitan area of Detroit.

In the face of the attitude of some of his most ardent followers, Dewey will find it hard to get even a small share of the labor vote. Asked how A. F. of L. members would be likely to vote in the fall, William Green, president of the A. F. of L., made a private prediction during the course of the Republican convention in Chicago that 80 to 85 per cent would go for Roosevelt and that nothing could prevent it.

An important political factor in Detroit is the negro vote. Calm of a kind has prevailed since the riot of a year ago and there have been real efforts to ease the tensions arising out of the whole complex war situation in this jam-packed beehive. Courses in racial tolerance have been introduced in the schools. Other cities could learn from Detroit in this respect.

Housing remains the critical need. A large proportion of Detroit's more than 225,000 negroes are crowded into Paradise Valley. One Federal Housing project in the valley stands out like an oasis in an area where three and four families live in a single flat. That housing project is a political fact which weighs more than words.

Michigan has 19 electoral votes. Wendell Willkie captured them in 1940, but by a margin of less than 7,000 votes. In a close election, those 19 electoral votes might be all important, which is why labor is working so hard to overcome the lead that Dewey has today.

Munising News

Clayton Forgette and Orton Davis returned to Detroit Wednesday after spending ten days here. Mrs. Walter Corey, daughters, Marian and Delores, and Miss Alice Niemi, spent Tuesday in Marquette.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Koss of Detroit were here Tuesday. They spent the day sight-seeing. A. Svenson, H. A. St. John, E. G. Day, L. S. & I. officials of Marquette were business callers in Munising Tuesday.

Mrs. F. Clement and children of DePere, Wis., are here visiting friends. Mrs. Clement was the former Doris Lindquist of Munising.

Miss Clara Starzyk left for Detroit where she will spend a week with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Somerville.

Miss Gail Hemenway returned to Bay City after being the guest of Miss Esther Knowles for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lemley and family returned Tuesday to Detroit after spending a week at the Eric Norberg home.

Mrs. Lusetta Tate, incumbent, and Charles Everett were elected members of the Munising township board of education by a small vote at the annual school election held Monday. Neither had opposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Halfday have returned to Detroit after spending a week here visiting relatives.

Miss Jane Webber returned Tuesday from Morris, Ill., where she visited friends.
